Made with American Pride

We Are American

There is a special kind of pride that comes with being an American and understanding what freedom and the American Way mean. An integral part of our American heritage is firearms ownership and the traditions that accompany it—from serving in our United States Armed Forces, to hunting with our fathers and grandfathers, to just feeling the pure joy of shooting. There is an ownership, a pride and a heritage in America that no other country on the world can ever hope to understand.

KleenBore understands. We remember that first time we cleaned our favorite duck gun with our dad in the den and learned to field strip and clean our service rifle. We understand what it means to take pride in ownership. Pride in quality. Pride in our American future.

That's why we choose to keep our components in our kits American Made. We started making products for the United States Military in 1977. We continue to do so and today offer our carefully made products and parts, made with the same American hands for you—America's shooter. So please, take time to sit down and understand why an American Made rod, brush or jag is unparalleled in quality, and so very critical to preserving precious rifling and accuracy for your treasured firearms—a valuable piece of you and your identity—an American.

Classic Gun Care

Classic Universal Kit

The forerunner of the multi-use cleaning kit, the Universal Kit allows users the ability to clean an array of firearms. Adapters are included for cleaning handguns, rifles and shotguns. Because of its universal nature, brushes are sold separately.

Kits are caliber specific and include the appropriate bore brush and cotton patches.

Multi-Choke Shotgun cleaning Jags

Model No. JAG-12N - 12 Gauge

Model No. JAG-20N - 20 Gauge

Multi-Choke Nylon Jags offer an efficient way of cleaning a bore and choke. The #5/16-27 thread will fit all KleenBore shotgun rods.

Precision Cleaning

One-Piece Cleaning Rods

KleenBore offers a wide variety of American Made non-segmented rods in steel and aluminum in an array of lengths to meet your needs. All rods are carefully crafted to be strong, no-fray and remain straight in the barrel. Some imported rods can bow, break, or peel, damaging valuable rifling. Be discriminating about how you treat your rifling. One-piece, U.S. made rods with rotating handles from Kleen-Bore are the only way to go.

Multi-Section Cleaning Rods

All KleenBore rods are precision-machined in the United States from top quality stock to exacting tolerances and surface smoothness. We take special care to ensure that the rods screw precisely together and are tough. They won't bow, break, bend or fray, which can cause damage to precious rifling. Our durable nylon handles on the rifle and pistol models rotate smoothly allowing brushes and jags to travel efficiently down the bore, and all multi-section rods are packaged in well-made vinyl pouches -- perfect for long-term storage.

Muzzle Guards

Use of a muzzle guard can prevent the damage to the sensitive barrel crown when cleaning from the muzzle end. A muzzle guard keeps the cleaning rod centered and works equally as well when cleaning bolt-action rifles from the muzzle or breech.
