NEW Blackwater Series™ Shotguns – Totally Tactical

Bearing the name synonymous with tactical precision, and boasting a feature-set worthy of envy at the range, Mossberg introduces its new line-up of Blackwater Series™ shotguns.

Based on three of our most popular models — the 590A1,™ the 500® Cruiser® and the 930™ SPX, these Blackwater models have had added upgrades, and each has been marked with the classic Blackwater logo.

Blackwater 590A1 and 930 SPX models feature a premium XS brand sight system (shown below) with a ghost ring rear, and AR-style white stripe front post on a receiver-mounted rail.

For more on the 930 SPX model, see Page C34. For the 590A1 and 500 Cruiser, see Page C36.

Every Blackwater Series shotgun comes engraved with the classic Blackwater paw-print logo. Below, the Blackwater 930 SPX model's engraved receiver, top rail and XS brand ghost ring sights are shown.

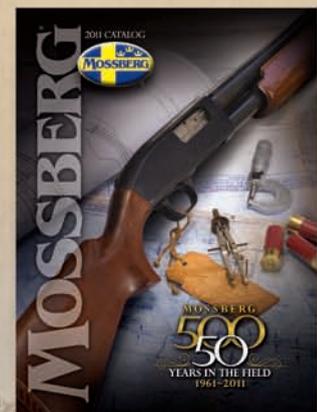

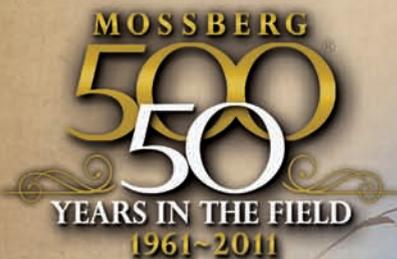

The 500® Pump-Action Celebrates 50 Years in the Field

On August 21, 1961 the first 500® pump-action rolled off the O.F. Mossberg & Sons assembly line. Since that time, millions of shooters have come to recognize this American-made classic as one of the most versatile firearms ever manufactured.

Many things have changed in those five decades, as the 500 has evolved from the classic wood-stocked field gun — to a diverse family of products with specialized hunting models in just about every game category; and Special Purpose models that have served with distinction both as a duty-weapon of choice for military and law enforcement forces around the world, and has become a centerpiece in home defense.

Moving forward, the 500 promises to maintain the reputation for which it has become renowned: a ruggedly-built, workhorse shotgun, one that you can rely on when it is needed most.

To check out the current line-up of diverse 500 models, you can find hunting models on Pages C14 through C17, and Special Purpose models on Pages C35 through C37.

This year's cover features a vintage 500 Field model from 1961. This prototype was one of many used for the rigorous testing the 500 was subjected to prior to its introduction in August of that year. Built-to-last from the start, today's 500 pump-actions reflect the same combination of reliability, ease of use, value and affordability that went into those first shotguns five decades ago.

To give hunters the maximum advantage in the field when targeting specific game, Mossberg has expanded their short-action caliber offerings for 4x4 and 100ATR centerfire rifles.

The 4x4's caliber options jumps to 13 total, as the following short-action calibers are added to the line: .222-250 Rem., .243 Win., 7mm-08 Rem., and .308 Win. The Chainsaw's unique forend grip is easily removed for conversion to a standard forend configuration.

Looking Sharp: The New Mossberg® 500® Chainsaw

The new 500® Chainsaw shotgun's primary feature is the unique 'chainsaw' forend grip that provides the shooter with added muzzle control. This grip is easily removable for rapid conversion to a standard forend.

The Chainsaw also features a stand-off barrel, and a tri-rail forend with an integral full-length bottom rail and two removable side rails for maximum flexibility when mounting tactical lights, sights, lasers and accessories (light shown in-use is not included). See Page C37 for more details.

Tactical .22: AR-Style & Feel Means An Affordable Day of Fun

The new lightweight Tactical .22 combines the look, feel and excitement of today's AR-style platforms with Mossberg International's reliable and affordable autoloader.

The Tactical .22's primary features are its quad-rail forend and top rail/AR-style carry handle, providing any shooter the opportunity to customize their rifle with lights, lasers or any number of AR accessories. The top rail is removable, and allows proper clearance for using the built-in rear open sight. The Tactical .22 is available in two stock configurations — a fixed stock with 13" length of pull or a six-position adjustable stock that offers a range from 10.75" to 14.5" at the click of a button. A choice of 25-Round and 10-Round magazines are available. For more, see Page C26.

Models with 25-round magazines also come with a magazine loader cap. This handy accessory helps reload your magazines faster — giving you more time on the firing line, and fewer pinched fingers.

510 Mini™: More Big News for Mossberg's Smallest-Ever Pump-Action Shotguns

The 510 Mini™ Super Bantam™ is the most compact pump-action shotgun design in Mossberg's history at just over 34" — and it made its heralded debut in 2010 with standard 20 gauge and .410 bore offerings. Like all Super Bantam models, the stock's length of pull is adjustable using an interchangeable 1" insert, allowing the stock to "grow with the shooter," when the smaller stock dimension has been outgrown.

This year, the big news for these small shotguns is the addition of two new models in the same gauges, and they're both dressed in Mossy Oak® Break-Up® Infinity™ camo.

Shooters will find these small wonders are field-ready, and 510 Mini's are a great choice for young hunters or smaller-framed adults. See Page C16 for more information.

These 510 Mini Super Bantam models measure just 34.75" from muzzle to pad in their shortest configuration, and weigh in at a scant 5 pounds.

4x4™ Bolt-Action

The Mossberg 4x4 Bolt-Action... a feature-rich, stylish and reliable partner in the field. In thirteen caliber options as diverse as the game you seek, and with premium touches like an adjustable trigger, fluted barrels, and removable muzzlebrake to set it apart from the centerfire crowd.

Superior Mossberg Value — Overbored/Ported Barrels.

» Barrel Overboring – Every smoothbore 835 Ulti-Mag shotgun barrel is overbored to 10 gauge bore dimensions. Unlike other “backbored” brands, this unique design spans the entire length of the barrel, providing a gas “cushion” for the shot charge. Not only does this reduce felt recoil, it more importantly reduces pellet deformation and internal friction, resulting in the exceptionally uniform, dense shot patterns for which Mossberg overbored shotguns are known.

» Barrel Porting – Every 835 Ulti-Mag shotgun barrel is factory ported (excluding 20” and fluted barrels), providing shooters the benefit of reduced felt recoil and muzzle jump — resulting in quicker second shot recovery.

835® Ulti-Mag® Pump-Actions

- » Quality Queues – Dual extractors, twin action bars, positive steel-to-steel lock-up, and an anti-jam elevator combine for reliable, smooth operation.

- » Hardcore Versatility – Developed for use with a full range of 12 gauge 2³/₄” 3” and 3¹/₂” factory shotshells.
- » Fiber Optic Sights – Fiber optic front bead sight standard on most waterfowl models; fully adjustable front and rear fiber optic sights standard on all turkey models.

Fully-Rifled Bore

» Mossberg has been a pioneer in developing fully-rifled slug barrels with their Slugster® models. When used with today's high-tech, sabot slug ammunition, these barrels deliver unprecedented down-range accuracy. And now, with many jurisdictions promoting deer hunting with shotguns, the need for a superior slug shooting alternative is greater than ever.

» Full Rifling Makes the Difference — At the heart of every Slugster barrel are deep lands and grooves running the entire length of the barrel (see illustration below), creating the spin stabilization that gives today's sabot slug ammunition its improved rifle-like accuracy at 100 yards or more.

Designed with Younger or Smaller Shooters in Mind

» Mossberg's Super Bantam adjustable stock is an innovative solution to the changing needs of growing shooters. Straight out of the box, the Super Bantam has a 12" LOP (10¹/₄" for 510 Minis). Later, when the shooter has outgrown the smaller dimension, the included insert can be added, extending the length of pull by an extra inch. This comes from Mossberg's dedication to the youth market, and is another example of how Mossberg delivers "more gun for the money."

» At Mossberg, we know that a proper fit is extremely important to overall safety and comfort of shooters in the field. That's why we've created 18 models in .410 bore, 20 and 12 gauge, and in a diverse lineup of configurations — so that the foundation can be laid early on for a lifetime of enjoyment in hunting and the shooting sports.
